

ELEVATING THE AESTHETICS OF EVERYDAY LIVING

Harmony of form and function for kitchen and bath

by Susan Sharpe

Your vision, our focus. When you take pride in your home, every detail counts. A kitchen is much more than a room to prepare and serve food. It is a practical, functional environment to inspire culinary creativity and entertain friends, and a gathering place for family meals. The bath can create an ideal setting for tranquil repose, a place where daily bathing and grooming rituals provide precious time for reflection. SplashWorks appreciates that every home—whether historic or contemporary—reflects the unique creative vision of its owners. Whether building a new home from the ground up, updating an old kitchen or bath, or simply looking for that perfect set of cabinet knobs, you'll find what you need at SplashWorks—where the focus is on you and on what you want from these most vital rooms of your home.

Personal integrity, professional experience. Eric Nelson, the owner of SplashWorks, has spent nearly two decades learning the business of kitchens and baths. Born and raised in Almaden Valley, Eric began working in the shipping and receiving department of Saratoga Plumbing Supply I right out of high school in 1988. Seven years later, he became manager of the store's then-new location in the heart of San Jose's historic Willow Glen. Within four years, Eric purchased Saratoga Plumbing Supply II from its original owner and continued to operate under that name until January 2006, when he introduced SplashWorks. Thanks to Eric's personal integrity, professional experience, and hands-on management style, SplashWorks has grown to be one of the largest and most respected kitchen and bath showrooms in the Bay Area.

Extensive knowledge, superb service. Every homeowner, contractor, and designer who does business with SplashWorks quickly learns what sets this business apart. Simply put, SplashWorks has the most experienced staff of any kitchen and bath showroom in the region. With nearly 60 years of combined experience, its five-member sales team knows everything about each extensive product line. They understand the intricacies of designing and installing new kitchens and baths, and remodeling old ones. Most importantly, they listen, they understand, and they are ready to provide product information and design assistance to ensure your satisfaction. At SplashWorks, service is more than a promise; it's a one-on-one experience of professional excellence.

Selection from the simple to the sublime. Enter the SplashWorks showroom, and you enter a world of stunning visual beauty, flawlessly organized for a seamless shopping experience. Every product on display is individually selected at the latest kitchen and bath tradeshow. It carries all the leading brand names, along with exclusive product lines from around the globe. Here, you'll find period-perfect reproductions and sleek contemporary fixtures; vessel sinks in cast bronze and natural stone; oil-rubbed finishes and brushed metals; and knobs and pulls from the traditional to the whimsical. Sinks and tubs, faucets and accessories, toilets and bidets, mirrors and lighting—all the best is brought together under one roof at the 3,500-square-foot kitchen and bath gallery that is SplashWorks.

Team approach, streamlined process. Bring in the plans for your new home or renovation project, and the expert staff at SplashWorks can help you select and price every visual plumbing product for your kitchen and bath. They'll also prepare a detailed proposal and delivery timeline to meet your project schedule. Professional integrity. Knowledgeable staff. Extraordinary selection. Put it all together, and it's easy to understand why so many homeowners, contractors, and designers have become loyal SplashWorks customers.

A neighborhood landmark welcomes a new era. In January 2006, the kitchen and bath showroom known since 1995 as Saratoga Plumbing Supply II changed its name to SplashWorks. Savvy homeowners, designers, and contractors continue to travel from far and wide to this 3,500-square-foot gallery for superb service and unsurpassed selection.
